“And in distant times it will be that the man alone will no longer be the ruling power, because from then on the woman will steer the fate of the world and humanity as true mother of the earth, because she will wield her sceptre over the man and break his imperiousness, tyranny power-lust and addiction to war, in order to end the times of ugly masculine barbarism, and nip in the bud man’s devilish and murderous and high handed acts, in order to finally allow peace on Earth.”

As we are living in the Age of Aquarius, I thought it is important to facilitate awareness of the woman’s role in bringing about a new society based on creational principals.

LIVING IN THE AGE OF AQUARIUS...

By Bianca Recht

I would begin by changing the structure of education.

Like a slow trickle of water on a stone, the Age of Aquarius is seeping into all facets of human life ushering in, “The quiet revolution of the truth”. The material Age of Pisces is dissipating. Ahead are times of truly great changes in Earth’s humanity and great challenges are yet to pass, but already creative and progressive advancements are being perceived.

Living in the Age of Aquarius, women increasingly possess sageness and the sense of love, freedom, peace, human dignity, equality and harmony. After millennia of evil and wars, lovelessness and disharmony and degeneracy, the affectations of men will cease and women will hold the sceptre of leadership and radiate hope and happiness, as well as lightness of life in which dreams that are oriented towards honest love, peace, freedom and harmony will come true.

This is the time of evolutive ideas where open mindedness, equal responsibilities and honourable living become part of the most significant and pivotal solutions for the Earth human beings. Streaming from the inevitable consciousness development, the knowledge of truth is spreading a new meaning for human life in this Age of Aquarius and for generations that will follow. Still, hundreds of years will come to pass until humanity as a whole accepts the spirit teaching and the truth of the meaning of life. And in this process of Earth’s revolutionary consciousness evolution, each newly formed consciousness of the reincarnating spirit will naturally follow the ‘free will’ to strive and find the new spiritual knowledge that will lead him/her to wisdom, to freedom, to joy and to harmony. Every human being’s life will be confirmed through creational logic when the human being will live according to the Creation’s laws and recommendations.

A creative, forward thinking process will help humanity develop new foundations for life’s education because the education system today has been deliberately neglected for too long and the forgotten role of “creativity” has caused incuriousness. As the world’s environment is changing, those who have the eyes, see that the younger generations are no longer satisfied with past historical accomplishments and education standards. The Internet is beaming with new ideas of which many are women’s voices, and the gender structure is changing the social landscape with formative visions and ideals. These voices cannot be silenced any longer because the information free-way has opened the gates to images of the most insane and psychotic wars, where many sons and brothers used as pawns in the chess game of diplomatic negotiations no longer obey empty promises of glory, and women no longer feel ashamed of their sons. These voices now yearn to create a truly humane civilisation to benefit Earth’s humanity as one whole.

Education - being the prime principal where people can discover their inner self and their life potential - can bring to light their talents that have been buried from years of subjugation to an archaic system of political and religious dogma. I would change the current structure of this system and remodel our society, build new foundations with befitting circumstances for every human being to experience new choices. I would teach the art of participation in every aspect of daily life, so that every human being’s journey becomes the fulfilment of a personal quest to self-autonomy.

This generation of children and young adults, more than any other in the past, is absorbed in technological progress and material gains for self satisfaction, and parental guidance is nil. These children devoid of guidance are growing up to be adults devoid of self discipline, moral standards and ethics. They may become our future society that will not progress; in fact it will stagnate and fail subsequent generations. This structure must be shaken like a tree that is allowed to drop its rotten fruit in order to realize that life is a living journey and the true reality of the meaning of life is learning. Parents have a responsibility to their offspring as positive role models and carers, and must not expect the system to fix their problems. Each and every human being has a responsibility to their family first as well as to the greater society so that humanity will evolve as a people with the logic of creational wisdom. This is an inevitable progress; it is not a religious choice.
of daily life would be a new day of learning on the path to the discovery of the human consciousness’s potential. Every thought would be the bud of great imagination because creativity is the natural part of the human character, and in truth, it is the paradigm to the spirit evolution.

Education and creativity are inseparable. Creativity must be nurtured with sensitivity so that the child and adult find and recognise their potential and develop awareness of that inner inspiration. Every human being must develop a desire to evolve with the recognition of the absolute ‘free will’. The education system must then provide the foundation and environment that will nurture the mind and help expand the developing consciousness.

Children want to be children and be allowed to dream. Dwelling on history does not achieve a better outcome for the future; in actuality it stymies the progress of every generation as they are reminded to relive past atrocities with dogmatic order, which prevents them from dreaming and creating a better world for themselves. Children want to be heard, and need to follow creationally correct guidelines. They want to forge their own future and learn from their choices, otherwise oppressive parental concerns and socially materialistic standards drive them to confusion, to jealousy and self loathing, to alcoholism and drug abuse, and demoralisation stamps a model in society, just as we are experiencing today. We, as the parents and leaders must tread carefully concerning our children’s dreams for they become our children’s future. It is the choices that we make today, that will be experienced in future human beings’ spirit reincarnations as part of our natural human evolution and the order of Creation, as creative fulfilment of the laws and recommendations of the Creation.

As in nature, so too the human beings evolution can be seen through a metaphor of a flourishing garden:
The art of education represents an ever expanding opportunity for the growth of the human being’s consciousness and must be nurtured with love, resolve and enthusiasm and be carefully observed through nature’s order.

And so humanity’s progress can also be understood from that same perspective as of a prosperous garden; here in the ‘garden of life’, every plant is a living organism and a representation of a human being’s spirit. With love and warmth, diligence, and care, a seed will develop roots and become a strong plant with deep foundations, so too, the individual will become a true human being of his/her own volition when allowed the freedom of thought, the art of self value and the development of a trust of his/her own potential in order to nurture a unique character and personality. Then with diligence, perseverance and love the human being will become equipped with a purpose for life. Just as the growing seed, so too every human being deserves that special place amongst others in the ‘garden of life’. Every seed is as the human being - an individual labour of love - just like the blooming flower. With passion and vision the ‘collective garden of the minds’ will sprout a community that is based on true love, care and harmony and these healthy foundations will nurture the new growing seeds. In time, the whole ecosystem will develop as one whole - and serve as a community filled with love, peace and harmony existing naturally with Creation. Human beings must be allowed to develop their consciousnesses and potentials, and never doubt that they can be free in their consciousnesses. With self-consciousness awareness - human beings may grow and flourish as a progressive civilization whose foundations are based on knowledge and wisdom and peace, joy and harmony, all living as one Creation, because all is in one and one is in all.

As Billy explains in his book “Wiedergeburt, Leben, Sterben, Tod und Trauer” (Reincarnation, Life, Dying, Death and Grief), pages 135 and 149, the human being’s innermost nature – his/her immortal energy and innermost creational essence – is the actual activity of the universal consciousness. It is the actual activity of Creation in the endless process of becoming and passing away (Werden und Vergehen).

The human being’s spirit only enlivens the human being. The spirit consists of neutral creational energy. The spirit is not active in terms of ideas, thoughts and feelings. It does not think and feel. Those are solely factors of the consciousness.

In the Goblet of Truth (Page 93: 169), Billy offers this advice: Goblet of the Truth

“Thus, the self-education in the stage of the puberty is of utmost importance, since that which must be learnt in this time and through which the individuality, i.e. the inner nature must be formed determines the further life until the old age, and out of this reason it is very difficult for you, you humankind of Earth, to still change to the good and the better, before you have left the time of the puberty, which can stretch from the age of 10 to 17 or even 19; and since the puberty is connected both to the physical development and to the consciousness development, the individuality is also included therein, and is formed until the end of the puberty, which means that during the puberty-time the most important forms of the individuality, i.e. of the inner nature are formed and this process accompanies great circumstances of tension, as a result physiological and hormonal changes to the body and consciousness are brought about, which is why the puberty is also a phase of social, thought-feeling-based as well as psychical unequalisedness".
In the Age of Aquarius...

As calculated by the Plejaren, the Earth can carry only around 529,000,000 human beings. This is the number of human beings that can be supported by the Earth in equilibrium with nature and the environment. The number of Earth humanity, at the current time, is in excess of 8,000,000,000. Primarily due to this, Earth humanity has spiralled out of control and the effect of this is disasters in the form of destruction of life, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tsunamis, landslides, and so forth, which, in the short term, unfortunately are only going to increase and lead to deaths and further destruction upon Earth.

Nonetheless, if the human being steps back from the current and coming events and observes and learns from everything that has happened and will happen, and makes the necessary changes for the better, then no doubt there exists a future which promises the fulfilment of the deepest spiritual wishes of each and everyone. How soon this becomes a reality, depends upon how soon the human being bestirs himself/herself to take action in this regard.

A future exists upon Earth where

- The spiritual teaching of the prophet (BEAM) will be fully comprehended and perceived.
- The laws of the Creation will be followed and rigorously upheld, which will lead to true love, peace, freedom and harmony.
- The virtues of the woman will be recognised as equal value to the man and, as the mothers and daughters of the Earth, they will nurture and guide humanity.
- Food, clean water and shelter will exist for each and every human being.
- Monetary dependency will not exist.
- Illnesses will be eradicated and bodies will be healed from all injuries.
- All life and nature, the flora and fauna, will be cared for and exist in equilibrium with human beings.
- Human beings will travel freely from one side of the Earth to the other, to the depths of the oceans and into the solar system.
- Human beings will eventually leave the Earth and travel to new star systems in order to discover the endless secrets of nature and the universe.
- Each and every human being will be able to develop and harness his/her talents from a young age and reach his/her full potential.
- A yet undreamt of life will come to fruition for the human being, which is of unlimited potential and only conditional on the imagination.

Therefore, through the coming time, take heart in this. When the Earth has been tilled, the seeds of the true life can then be sown.

Adam Dei Rocini
Mothers of the Millennium

The true prophet of the New Time predicts that it will ultimately be the women who will pull our chestnuts out of the fire. In reaction to these lines, I imagine a surge of feeling arising from many of my fellow downtrodden, underrated Earth women. Many are probably thinking, “I knew it! That’s what we’ve been saying all along! But would the men listen? No!” Reading these lines, the Earth woman perhaps feels self-righteous, justified in her outrage, encouraged to be strong and assert herself, because she imagines how it will be: that when she finally comes into power in this world then SHE will stop all the wars and aggression and bring about peace! Many would think that the men just have to finally step aside and give us the respect we deserve! Well, perhaps, to some extent, that is right. But I think there is a very important part to this process that we - my Earth sisters and I - are in danger of overlooking. The error in the Earth human thinking about the true role of the woman is also perpetuated to a great extent by the thinking of the Earth woman, if only out of habit. So, when I am asked what I would do if I had the power to make decisions concerning the fate of the whole planet, I would say that firstly I would start by renovating my whole thinking in relation to self-respect. How can we demand it from men if we don’t hold it for ourselves? So often it seems that as we nurture feelings of injustice to do with poor treatment from men, we simultaneously nourish thoughts of low worth within ourselves, which only reinforce the injustice as it causes us to needlessly support erroneous habits and actions. The responsible feminine thoughts, related to bringing about an appropriate order and harmony on this planet, begin with us. In our own consciousnesses we have to become responsible women who first and foremost - in respect for our own bodies - take the decision upon ourselves, where possible, to prevent the continuation of the irresponsible overpopulation and the resulting degradation of the planet. As Billy explains in his article, “To All the Women and Girls of the World” (www.figu.org/ch/book/export/html/2170), we women should make the decisions regarding whether we bear children and it is we who have to communicate the new reality logically and rationally and without irrational force and coercion to our brothers, husbands, lovers, fathers, sons, etc. We have to grasp the controls of our own thinking. And we have to exercise true love for the men in our lives, and not be filled with resentment and hatred.

Everything begins with the thoughts and the forming of ideas which must be free of bitterness and blame and full of the understanding about the equal worth of both men and women. So if we point the finger angrily at our brothers for their wrong thinking about our worth, we need to honestly examine our own world of thoughts to do with that, and see whether they are truly logical and worthy of respect. And it is only when we have made sure that they are that we can go ahead and make those necessary and rational changes which will ultimately change everything for the better, including that we also foster and regain our respect and true love for men.

Wie zwei Bäume ...

Wie zwei Bäume, die nicht zu nahe aneinander gepflanzt werden dürfen, damit sie einander nicht das Licht und die Luft zum Gedeihen und Atmen nehmen, so brauchen zwei Menschen in einer Beziehung ihren Freiraum, damit ihre Liebe zueinander in Freiheit wachsen kann.

Like Two Trees ...

Just as with two trees which must not be planted too close to one another, so that they do not take the light and the air for thriving and breathing from one another, two human beings in a relationship need their free space, so that their love for each other can grow in freedom.

As a leader in the Age of Aquarius I would...

...continue to work towards reducing the overpopulation and help people understand the concept of how it can be done successfully, as explained in the FIGU publications, and without following China’s flawed one-child policy.

...introduce free education for everyone, and equal pay for all, no matter what gender or which profession. Everyone should be paid according to the time and effort they put into their job, and not according to how many years they have studied or how ‘important’ their job is.

...work towards reducing the desire for euthanasia by helping people understand how important it is to live out their natural life span and that palliative care, in 95% of the cases, can successfully control pain and other symptoms and allow humans to die with dignity.

...support health research that is independent from big pharmaceutical companies and other stakeholders. Health research needs to be inclusive of natural medicine and treatments and have the patients’ best interest at heart, and not how much money can be earned with it.

...put the protection of the environment high on the agenda, i.e. discontinue the bottling and the fluoridation of water and make water a common commodity that cannot be exploited for profit by private companies; stop all fracking and phase out all uranium mining and coal mining and put a greater effort into sustainable energy production, e.g. solar, wind power and geo thermal energy; phase out motor cars and replace them with cars powered by electricity or hydrogen or other alternatives.

Prophezeihung und Voraussage

(German from quote on first page)

151) Und zu jener Zeit wird es sein, dass nicht mehr allein der Mann die Mächtigkeit des Herrschenden sein wird, fortan nämlich wird die Frau das Geschick der Welt und der Menschheit als wahre Mutter der Erde lenken, denn sie wird ihr Zepter über den Mann führen und dessen Herrschsucht, Selbstherrlichkeit, Machtgier und Kriegssucht brechen, um die Zeiten der hässlichen männlichen Barbarei zu beenden und des Mannes teuflisches und mörderisches sowie selbstherrliches Tun im Keime zu ersticken, um endlich Frieden werden zu lassen auf Erden.

Translating Might of the Thoughts

Vivienne Legg

When I made the rather ambitious and daunting decision to attempt my first translation of an entire book of Billy’s, I naturally gave a great amount of thought to just what it should be. With so few books available in English containing the renewed teaching, I knew it would be a very significant landmark in the whole program of making this material available to Earth humanity in this era, and thus quite a responsibility! At first I thought it should be something which covered a lot of general instruction about life, like Die Art zu Leben [The Way to Live] or Ein Quentchen Wissen Sinn und Weisheit, [A little bit of Knowledge, Sense and Wisdom]. But fortunately, we now do have the Goblet of the Truth translation, thanks to the arduous correction work of Mariann Uehlinger and Willem Mondria, and it provides a very thorough detailing of the main principles of the teaching. I thought again. Some of Billy’s other books which focus on certain individual areas of learning also begged for our translation attention, such as Meditation aus Klarer Sicht [Meditation from Clear Visibility] and Fluidal Kräfte [Fluidal Powers] which deals with the topic most Earth human being’s think of as the “supernatural”. However, Might of the Thoughts appealed to me, not just because it seems to be written in a way I felt would be relatively easy to translate, but also because I thought there would be no better way to aid students of this material in their journey of learning than to first make available this crystal clear and unparalleled text book on how to think, given that it is our thoughts which not only enable us to study effectively, but with which we form our entire lives and influence the world around us, for good or for ill.

Of course, I also had a more personal reason for this choice. I knew that whichever book I chose would be one I would be very intimately and thoroughly exposed to. I wanted this very thorough retraining of my own thoughts. I wanted to have a transformative experience as a side effect of the work and which would most efficiently enable me to become better able to apply myself to this work in the future. With this spiritual teaching, no significant gains can be made without a serious application of deliberate effort. Billy’s books are not written to simply soothe us and flow into us and to work some sort of magic with no initiative of our own. And so, taking the opportunity I had created for myself to digest parts of this text quite thoroughly, it has facilitated an intensive time of thinking and contemplating, and it has triggered the all-important experience in my everyday life of the effects of my new learning, not to mention the informative experience of observing the very significant lingering effects of the old.

The translation work itself has been an immensely important learning experience for me as I have attempted to apply the general principles of the renewed teaching to it. I marvel at the rich learning that every aspect of this project has provided. Just as Might of the Thoughts describes, everything is an opportunity to learn, every challenge is a chance to become stronger. The main principles in Might of the Thoughts include the importance of setting goals: – having an ideal clearly and logically in sight. Then, we learn about reinforcing constructive thoughts based on values such as endurance, patience and steadfastness, while avoiding nourishing any negative thoughts based on anxiety, doubt, faintheartedness and fickleness, among other destructive things. Billy stresses the ever-important need for rational, logical and equalised thoughts which I have found has helped me not to be driven to distraction by the seemingly endless translation dilemmas which are impossible to fully resolve.

Might of the Thoughts teaches true optimism, enthusiasm, cheerfulness, and their necessity. It teaches the necessity of recognising the negative as well as the positive of every situation and then treating these in a neutral-positive way so that the problems can be dealt with in a balanced and constructive form, using the very might of one’s thoughts.

The positive effectiveness of the thoughts arises from excluding all those illogical, irrational, destructive thoughts and allowing only room for constructive, balanced, harmonious ones, and reinforcing just those. Then we can experience a might of our thoughts which can achieve unimaginably huge and good things in our own lives and for the benefit of others.

There is no denying that translating an entire book of Billy’s teaching at this relatively early stage of our own learning has been quite a daunting challenge. I was always determined that I would succeed with this project and see it through, but in those moments when my energy wanes, my heart sinks and I feel somewhat disheartened by the sheer enormity of it - and in fact, by the sheer enormity of my FIGU obligation in general - I think of the following lines from chapter 17.

Schon Henok prägte in uralter Zeit das Wort: «Wenn eine Sache Ausdauer und Zähigkeit erfordert, dann müssen die Ausdauern und Zähen die Arbeit übernehmen, denn die Beharrlichkeitslosen und Nachgiebigen zerstören die Werte der Dinge und führen eine Sache in die Vernichtung.»

In ancient times, Henok already coined the saying, "When a matter requires perseverance and persistence, then those with perseverance and persistence must take on the work, because those without persistence, and those who are yielding, destroy the values of the thing and lead a matter into annihilation."

How true that is, and how beautifully logical.
Children Ask Grown-ups ...

Children ask grown-ups why they exist and who created them. Unfortunately, more often than not, at sometime in the course of their lives they stop inquiring about it and pass by the search for the sense of their life, because during the time of growing up, no knowing one has imparted the truth to them.— Achim Wolf

Melbourne FLAU Information Stand – February 2013

Vivienne Legg

During my trip to the mainland in February to connect with FLAU members and friends in the Sydney area and in Victoria, I had the pleasure of accompanying Vibka and Bianca at their information stand in the centre of the busy city of Melbourne.

This was the fourth time they had set up the FIGU stand for the public. It was a joy for me to see it and participate in it first hand – FIGU’s public face in the southern hemisphere, aside from the internet. It looked terrific in the midst of the summery Saturday crowd. Of course, we didn’t expect a huge response, and many were no doubt far more interested in the nearby food festival, but we were encouraged by the scattering of interested individuals who took away pamphlets and a few who asked questions and I know that the presentation of the worthy principles on our banner and booklets could have also triggered some significant new thoughts in the passers by. Thanks so much, Vibka and Bianca, for your encouraging commitment to this part of our work.

Hymne an die Schöpfung

Im Dunkel der Nacht
Das Glitzern
Von Millionen Sternen,
Sonnen, Planeten.

Nur ein Lidschlag
Der Schöpfung
Sind
Äonen für den Menschen.

Ihre Kraft
Durchpulst die Welten
Belebt elektromagnetisch
Das Leben,
Die Universen.

Wir sind
Ihre Kinder -
Berufen zu wachsen,
Zu erkennen und
Mit ihr die Evolution
Zu beschreiben.

Die Ewigkeit
Sind auch wir selbst,
Als ein Teil der Schöpfung,
Die unseren Geist
Durchpulst.

Hymn to the Creation

In the darkness of the night
The twinkling
Of millions of stars,
Suns, planets.

Just a blink
Of the Creation
Is
Aeons for the human being.

Its power
Pulses through the worlds
Electromagnetically animates
The Life,
The universes.

We are
Its children -
Called upon to grow,
To recognise and
To walk the path of evolution
With it.

The eternity
We are too,
As a part of the Creation,
Which pulses through
Our spirit.
